Lynchburg—D. J. Hodges, who was arrested in Baltimore several days ago, has been brought back here by a local policeman to answer charge of wife desertion. Hodges agreed to return to Lynchburg without extradition.

Lynchburg.—The police here has started a crusade against the use of glaring headlights in the city limits on automobiles. Such lights are prohibited by State law and city ordinance.

Lynchburg.—The E. C. Glass Hi-Y here has elected the following officers: President, Walker Pettyjohn, Jr.; vice-president, Robert McGregor; secretary, Edward Shepherd; treasurer, Brumback Stevens; corresponding secretary, Edgar Brook, and chaplain, Edwin L. Bain, Jr.

Danville.—Good progress has been made in securing enlistments in the coast artillery unit to be known as the Danville Grays during the past few days. Forty men have been signed and it is believed the minimum requirement will shortly be enrolled.

Danville.—The Danville Chamber of Commerce has undertaken to raise $5,000 which will be spent in "putting over" the State convention of the American Legion to open here August 25. Committees are functioning already and Post Commander Waverley C. Coening is well-pleased with the initial steps taken for the event.

Cape Charles.—What promises to be one of the most strongly contested town elections in the history of Cape Charles will be held June 10, when the people of Cape Charles will be called upon to fill the vacancies of the entire town government. Mayor and six councilmen by reason of the terms expiring of the present body.

Fredericksburg.—W. T. Green, of Lahore, Orange county, is the owner of a pig which had two mouths, eight legs, four ears and four eyes. The freak is two months old and in appears robust health. Mr. Green says it has a double appetite and eats as much corn as two pigs of its age would devour.

Fredericksburg.—Dr. R. L. Pevall, 57, prominent physician of Belmont, Spotsylvania county, was shot to death in the highway near Granite Springs, in the same county. His alleged murderer, Charles Kendall, 22, after emptying the five chambers of a .38-caliber revolver, jumped into his automobile and escaped.

Lynchburg.—Willie, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Gallion, who fatally hurt when he was struck by a fire truck which was responding to a fire alarm. The accident happened near the Memorial Hospital, to which place the child was hurried, but he died in ten minutes. Witnesses said the child ran in front of the truck. He was injured about the head.

Portsmouth.—Residents of Great Bridge, Norfolk county, are petitioning the State Highway Commission to defer the closing of Route No. 27 of the State Highway system until after the trucking season, because of the loss the farmers of that section declare will ensue if the road is closed immediately. The State commission is preparing for the construction of the road from Great Bridge to the North Carolina line.

Lynchburg.—The report of the Board of Health here for the past month shows that out of fifty-two deaths there were nine from violent or external causes. But sixty-seven births were reported for the period, the bureau noting a falling off for the month. The bureau inspected 1,143 animals for slaughter during the month, nineteen of the number being condemned as unfit for food.

Danville.—John G. Eggleston, held for the past several days in Martinsville jail charged with the murder of his wife, near Fontaine on April 27, was released on $1,000 bail. This step was not realized by the Commonwealth's Attorney who concurred in the amount asked. Miss Annie Moore, a niece of the accused, wrote security; Miss Moore is understood to be prepared to offer a reward of $500 for the arrest of Mrs. Eggleston's slayer provided another member of the Gravely family will match the amount. No further evidence tending to shed light on the woman's murder developed during the week-end.

Petersburg.—Joseph H. Stephens, of Richmond, express messenger of the American Railway Express Company in the baggage car of the Norfolk and Western "Cannon Ball" train, when two express company safes were robbed of over $37,000, near this city on the afternoon of December 6, 1923, was indicted by a Prince George county grand jury as one of the two principals in the robbery. The indictment returned against him charged him with grand larceny, a felony punishable by imprisonment of from one to ten years in the penitentiary.

Orange.—Carter Kendall, Spotsylvania county farmer, was arrested here and charged with the murder of Dr. R. E. Pevall near Fredericksburg. Kendall was arrested by the Orange county sheriff shortly after he had left the train here and hired a car to take him into the country. He offered no resistance to the arrest.

Berryville.—While searching for the break in the pipe which conveys water from the Mountain Reservoir to Berryville, a mass of men discovered as many as six skeletons which had been washed up by the recent flood. Near these about seventy-five or a hundred black men, the size of graves, were discovered, and several opened, to disclose more skeletons. Cuts measured seven feet six inches in length.

Winchester.—Recovery of three persons seriously injured in an automobile collision on the Shenandoah Valley Pike, near here, was expected at a local hospital, while three others had been discharged after treatment for minor hurts. Mrs. H. R. Myers had an arm and leg fractured, her face cut, and bruised and her scalp badly lacerated. Wesley Weakley had an arm broken and his face and body cut, while M. R. Myers' hands, knees and legs were gashed by flying glass. Leo Merrell, a Miss Myers and H. H. Fiddler were cut and bruised. Merrell, Weakley and Fiddler were traveling in one car and the Myers family in another, and both crashed with terrific force, scattering occupants in all directions and smashing the machines into complete wrecks.

Danville.—The trustees of the Danville General Hospital have taken the first steps towards the building of a new hospital with money bequeathed to the institution by the late John B. Hughes. The $350,000 is expected to be made available in August. The trustees have closed for the purchase of a roomy lot with a frontage of 140 feet and a depth of 400 feet, on which the new hospital will be built. The purchase price is understood to have been $20,000. The building proposed will be fireproof and will have a capacity for 100 patients. The present hospital at the corner of Jefferson and Main streets will be sold and the money added to the Hughes bequest. The new building is to be strictly modern, and it will be endowed so that persons of insufficient means may have the best treatment by paying according to their ability. It is also planned to provide in the hospital quarters for the City Health Department in order that the clinics may be held there.

Charlottesville.—The Virginia Division, United Confederate Veterans, re-elected W. B. Freeman major-general for the tenth consecutive time. His staff also was continued—Brigadier-General Homer Atkinson, of Richmond, first brigade; Brigadier-General W. F. Nye, of Radford, second brigade; Brigadier-General William Lamont, son of Frost Royal, third brigade; Brigadier-General H. Clay Minnis, of Charlottesville, fourth brigade. Steering gold dresses were delivered by Don P. Halsey, of Lynchburg, and W. R. Phelps, of Bedford City, attending greetings from the Sons of Veterans. At the grand camp session every veteran of Commander Linney's staff appointed at Roanoke last year was upon the platform. State Commander Leo O. Miller, of Richmond, presided at the meeting of the Sons of Veterans, at which time an organization for the session was completed. Commander Stickley, 20-year-old son, of West Virginia, made some stirring remarks showing great activity among the Sons in the mountain State.

Danville.—A blood-stained ax is now occupying the chief position in the investigation of the murder of Mrs. John G. Eggleston, as is John Eggleston, 16, her son, who, on being asked to produce the ax, said he did not know where it was. Piled closely with questions, he found it. C. M. Wales, a member of the coroner's jury, is responsible for this development. During the inquest he remembered seeing the gory ax, but was told it had been used to kill chickens. He remembered the incident, went alone to the Eggleston home and asked the boy about it. First, the youth is quoted as saying he found it near a barn, and later near a pig pen. The ax when produced was found to have a new handle. Eggleston could not remember having changed it and could offer no explanation why the ax saturated with blood was not seen by the officers when they made a new handle. The youth who is to be re-examined is described as resenting the significant questioning. In checking up such evidence as bears on the boy the State finds that he was seen to throw a rock at his mother the Sunday she disappeared. It is recalled now that the head of Mrs. Eggleston was found some distance away from her body, and that lobsterians on the skull were recognized as being made by a heavy instrument.

Newport News.—Eighteen, hundred enlisted men of the recruiting fleet, with their own officers in charge, are to be landed and quartered at the naval training station at Hampton Roads for the next three months, and preparations are being made to receive them. They will arrive about May 27. The men are members of the crews of the battleships Arkansas, Wyoming, Texas and New York, the squadron that is to make the annual midshipmen's practice cruise to Europe and return. The cruise will begin from Annapolis next month.

Pain In Back & Sides

"FOR A LONG TIME," says Mrs. Dora Payne, of Huntington, Tenn., "I felt listless, tired and worn-out. I did not feel like doing my work, visiting or anything.

"I suffered much pain in my back and sides. My limbs hurt, my knees would tremble without apparent cause and I would have to sit down.

"I was very nervous. I would have a tired, dull headache.

"I had read so much about Cardui I asked my husband to get it for me. The very first bottle seemed to help me. After the second . . . was better than I had been in months. I certainly can praise Cardui.

"I have taken three bottles. Now I hardly wait, when the sun shines, to garden. I am feeling fine."

Similar results to those described above have been reported by thousands of other women. Cardui's 40 years of success should encourage you to give it a thorough trial for the relief of any common female ailments. For sale everywhere.

THE PLACE OF THE GOOD TRADE

Have you ever heard a girl cry: "Oh, I can't be myself in this horrid little town! I'd stay here if there were any way for a girl to be herself individually"?

"It's the individuality that one can develop in such a place as this," says Mary Graham, one of the most interesting thing about being a small worker here—individuality that the average girl cannot possibly create in a big city." She owns an interesting shop, which some 50,000 people visit annually. The business association of her county recently picked her as representative of good salesmanship. And when it comes to cold figure, she can point to business that has quadrupled since she took it over. Her customers are the psychologists of the community. She has undertook a "musical comfort" and found that—as she had suspected—the right preaching and the right music are a salesmanship powder. Every day manager took an interest in developing her ability. She positively refused her to go to "selling" conventions because she knew it was a thing she was fitted for. She thought there was the future in it." But she persevered.

Years of training followed, partly in smaller shops where opportunity existed on her own shoulders. By this time, she says she had determined to win in this field. She discovered that a business in her own name meant more money and more enjoyment. Her chance came to take over a victrola shop in Ottawa, which now keeps five assistants busy.

"I do not advise any girl to go into a large city unless she is a specialist," Miss Regnardt says. "If she has business in the city she should have definite training to make her valuable in every way."

Lesson for June 15

THE RETURN AND THE REBUILDING OF THE TEMPLE

GOLDEN TEXT—Ezra 1:1-11; 3:8-4:32. Then prayed we unto our God, and set a watch against them because of them, day and night. Neh. 4:9.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Building a House for God.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Love for God's House.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Rebuilding the Temple.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Duties of the Returned Exiles.

I. The Return From Captivity Predicted (Jer. 29:10-14).

It seems to be the common experience of flourishing nations that false prophets arise who tell the people that they would speedily be returned to their own land. To counteract that the Lord raised Jeremiah to send a letter to the captives in Babylon, telling them that their captivity was to settle down and quietly pursue their regular callings of life and not to be deceived by false prophets.

II. The Return of the Captivity (v. 10). The seventy years of the captivity was a coming back was to be fulfilled. Where Daniel's prayer was answered. He will do. It is clear that the seventy years mean a time of exile from the time when the first captives were taken to Babylon until the last ones returned. Daniel was found.

III. The Captivity Fulfilled (Ezra 1:1-11).

1. The proclamation of Cyrus (vv. 1-4). Cyrus was not by accident, but that the purpose of the Lord might be fulfilled. What He promised He will do. It is a striking illustration of the faithfulness of God. In his proclamation Cyrus acknowledged the God of heaven as the one who had given him all the kingdoms of the earth, and those who desired to return to their own land were to be helped with gifts of silver, gold, goods, beasts, and freewill offerings for the house of God. This was the first step in the fulfilling of the prophecy of Jeremiah.

2. The response of the people (vv. 5-11). Only a remnant of the people responded to the call to return. Those who were left behind were to help those who returned by their gifts. Those who returned were to take with them the vessels of the house of the Lord which had been taken away by Nebuchadnezzar. The number of vessels returned was 5,400.

IV. The Temple Rebuilt (Ezra 3:8-6:22).

1. The Foundation Laid. This was an auspicious occasion and was celebrated with appropriate ceremonies.

(1) The priests in their apparel (v. 10). The priests' garments symbolized their consecration to the Lord's service.

(2) The priests with trumpets (v. 10). These trumpets were made of silver and were used in calling the people together.

(3) The Levites with cymbals (v. 10). These were to furnish the instrumental music of the sanctuary, in accordance with the arrangements made by David (I Chron. 15:10-21).

(4) They sang together by course (v. 11). This means that they sang to the Lord responsively. The one company sang, "The Lord is good." The other responded, "For his mercy endureth forever."

(5) Mingled weeping and shouting (vv. 12, 13). Some of the older men who had seen the magnificent and glorious temple of Solomon, which had been destroyed, must much when they saw how far short the present foundations came from the former temple.

2. The Building Hindered (Ezra 4). The leading adversaries were the Samaritans, a mongrel people, the offspring of the poor Jews who were left in Palestine and the foreign people who were sent into Palestine after the Jews' extensive captivity.

(1) An unintelligent pessimism (Neh. 4:10). Under the circumstances this was a glorious beginning and gave great promise of great things for the future. Therefore it was no credit to the priests, Levites, and other of the fathers to make this occasion with their weeping.

(2) Worldly compromise (Ezra 4:2, 3). They said, "Let us build with you, for we seek your God." This is Satan's most common and effective method today.

(3) Open opposition by the world (Ezra 4:4-24). When refused a part in the work upon condition was rejected to.

3. The Temple Finished (Ezra 5:1-6:15). Through the ministry of the Prophets Haggai and Zechariah the people were encouraged to resume the work of building the temple.

V. The Temple Dedicated (Ezra 6:16-22).

The people were united in the building program and enthusiasm upon the completion and solemnly dedicated unto God.
